

I CLAIM:

1. An illumination umbrella comprising:

a raft having a plurality of skeletons connected to a top end thereof, each skeleton being connected with one end of a side rod, another end of said side rod being connected to said raft;

5 a cloth spreading on said skeletons of said raft with sleeves formed at edges, and characterized by:

said raft comprising a hook; fixtures secured on said skeletons of said raft, each fixture comprising a hole and a clip at a bottom end thereof; light tubes secured to said clips of said fixtures, said light tubes made of acrylic with bubbles formed therein, each light tube comprising a light emitting diode at one end therein, each light tube having a power cord which will be formed in a bundle of an electric wire by collecting all power cords of said light tubes, another end of said electric wire being formed with a plug; a power supply hanged on said hook of said raft, said power supply comprising a socket and a stud at a rear end.